Another important topic to learn about astrology is the horoscope, also known as astronomical house, sign, cusp or ascendant depending on your system of astrology. A horoscope in astrology is a description of a certain person's celestial position over a given time. The best place to learn about horoscopes is in the book called Loutre's Introduction to Astrology. This book has been written in English and is one of the most complete textbooks on astrology available. All the basic concepts can be found within this book without any trouble.
